

If the United States is to retain even a shred of freedom for ALL its citizens, we need to ALL have access to a true variety of opinions and views, especially in news coverage of public policy and political events.

I am so weary of hearing the same soundbites from supposedly different radio and television sources. It is very difficult to trust what I hear when I hear only one viewpoint.

Americans deserve media that is at least as good as the rest of the world seems to enjoy. What we have now is an embarrassment. To allow even larger monopolies to take over even more of the media marketshare will harm us so much. It's not fair to the public, and it makes the USA look so foolish in the eyes of the world.

Please do not allow the proposed FCC changes to go into effect. It's bad enough as it is.
